Simon's Guide to Curacao Casinos and Online Casinos. This is a guide to brick and mortar as well as online casinos in Curacao (officially the Country of Curaçao, a Caribbean offshore tax haven, independent only since 2010 ,a constituent country of the Kingdom of Netherlands, probably the biggest online gambling hub in the world). Find out which are the best casinos and online casino sites in Curacao, or learn more about the legal status, taxation, age requirement and licensing of casino gambling in the country. Online casinos in Curaçao. Legal status of online casino gambling: legal, requires a licence from the Curaçao Gaming Control Board. Online casino gambling is legal in Curacao since 1993 (but e-gaming licenses are only issued since 1996) according to the the National Ordinance on Offshore Games of Hazard (Landsverordening buitengaatse hazardspelen 1993)*. In fact, Curacao was among the Caribbean offshore tax havens (alongside: Costa Rica, Panama, Belize, Aruba), which were the first countries to legalise online casinos in the 90s, and were the first to issue licenses to international operators, back in 1996. Online casino operators must obtain a licence from the Curacao Gambling Control Board to be able to offer their services legally within and in Curacao (accepting local residents is also possible, but the company needs special permission from the Curaçao Gaming Control Board). Curacao is a constituent country of the Kingdom of Netherlands since 2010, and has the right to legislate for itself, and thereby to create its own gambling laws. However, recently, the Netherlands, using a recent bailout, due to the COVID-19, started pressuring the island country to have more of a control over how they handle offshore online gambling licensing, and how, and what the hundreds of licensed platforms can do (details are below in the licensing section). Even though Curacao has been offering online casino licences for over 20 years, Curacaoan online casinos were not seen as exceptionally reliable (UPDATE 2021: prior to 2021, this is changing for the better, and right now, the Curacao license is the best possible Caribbean license a company can get, all in all). Additionally, the the environment is very laissez faire and pro business, this, coupled with low taxation (4% effective tax rate for online casinos from 2021, e.g.: for context, compare to to a typical 30%+ crippling effective tax rate for a European company, which doesn't even include taxes on wages...) makes it ideal for online gambling companies, especially those who are starting out. Still, there is a lot more work to be done, but they are on the right track, time will tell. /Comment: The truth is, without offshore licensing hubs, the online gambling industry would only consist of state owned lottery operators, who operate with a special, lower tax, have a special status, regular laws don't apply to them, and many of them already do more than lottery (usually sports betting, a few of them already have online casinos too, and e.g.: in Canada, they operate casinos too) + corrupt private companies with connections to politicians, lawmakers and the 1%. Therefore, whenever you hear criticism of offshore casinos, keep in mind, it's because the governments, specifically those who have their hand in the pot, want a bigger slice of the pie... Don't be fooled, they are just as bad as those, whom they criticize. It's a rotten world, both sides are bad, the only question is, who is the worse, and that's up to you to decide.../ Can tourists play online while visiting Curaçao? Yes, the laws discussed here only apply to residents of the country, if you are a tourist (or a non-citizen expat, or illegal), you can play online freely while enjoying your vacation. Online casino licensing and regulatory body of Curacao: Curacao, along with the other Caribbean tax havens, were among the first countries in the world to regulate online gambling and issue internet gambling, specifically online casino licenses (they were barely regulated, minimal if any oversight, bad reputation, lots of scandals, some haven't improved since, but Curacao is improving). The Curacao gaming licensing authority has been issuing online gambling licences since 1996. Online gambling sites who wish to have their services available in Curacao must apply for an online gambling licence. A licence covers games of chance, games of skill (e.g. poker), sports betting and other forms of betting, online and offline. Whether, you want to establish a land-based gambling establishment or some kind of online betting, wagering platform, you need to contact the Curaçao Gaming Control Board, which will help you get in touch with a master license holder. There is no separate online casino license. There are two different kinds of license: the master license, and the sub-license. The Minister of Justice has sole discretionary power to issue master licenses (it's not easy to get, it's pretty much invitation only, for VIP companies with a lot of money, and a long presence in the country, there are only 4 master license holders). Both master licenses and sub-licenses allow the holder to conduct all kinds of gambling activities, but the key difference is that master licenses also allow the holder to issue sub-licenses (of which there are hundreds). The following are the minimum requirements for a licence regardless of the type: a company incorporated in the Country of Curacao (offices need to be located in the country) Original Utility Bill (not older than 3 months) Copy of passport Resume (CV) Original certificate of good conduct Original bank reference letter Professional reference letter Second ID. The fees for a master gambling license in Curacao are still very low: 60,000 ANG (or about $34,000) setup fee and then 10,000 ANG (about $5,600) per month for the first two years. After that, the operator can negotiate with the government of Curacao for fees going forward. The 4 master license holders are: Cyberluck Curacao N.V. (Curacao-eGaming) #1668/JAZ Gaming Curacao (GC) #365/JAZ Curacao Interactive Licensing N.V. (CIL) #5536/JAZ Antillephone NV #8048/JAZ. The sub license fees depend on the master license holder, but are generally very low. Licensed online casinos can not accept players from Belize, UK, USA and several EU countries like Germany and the Netherlands. And they also cannot accept players from jurisdictions where no form of online gambling is permitted e.g. Brunei, UAE, North Korea, Lebanon.

Players from Curacao: Accepting local residents is also possible (unlike in most other Caribbean licensing hubs), but the turnover generated through trading with, or providing services to residents of Curaçao may not exceed 25% of the turnover, per item. If business is conducted with residents of Curaçao, the company has to file a request with the Curaçao Gaming Control Board. If permission is granted, the company will receive a list of conditions that will have to be met. Licensed companies can also accept deposits, and pay out winnings in cryptocurrencies. Curacao: Curacao is a pro-business tax haven, therefore, the corporate tax is 2%, and gambling companies only pay a 2% tax on net profits (from 2021 onward, at the time of writing this is not yet implemented, but it should be, sometime in 2021). For the players, taxation of gambling winnings in Curacao: not taxable. Free advertisement for local accountants, CPAs and accounting firms from this country. Land-based casinos in Curacao. Legal status of casino gambling establishments: legal, requires a licence from the Curaçao Gaming Control Board. Just like online casino gambling, land-based casinos are legal and regulated in Curacao. In fact, the island of Curacao is a popular tourist destinations among Americans who also like to visit casinos while on vacation. Tourism accounts for a significant part of Curacao's GDP, about 20%* (not as much as most Caribbean islands actually, but still very significant), and tourism is boosted by the presence of the casinos (quite a lot actually, for a country of only 158 K people), namely 10 casinos, and about 5 slot halls, 15 gaming venues all together, UPDATE COVID-19: down from about 20 gambling establishments, before the coronavirus (to put it into context, in comparison, a similarly sized, not offshore, not frequented by tourists, regular country with regular taxation, has 1 or 2 casinos + 2-3 slot halls max). All casino operators must apply for a licence at the Curacao Gaming Control Board in order to operate a casino legally (details are below). Casinos in Curacao are operated as part of a larger hotel complex, which is logical, seeing as tourists constitute the main player base (it's also mandatory, by law, although, some casinos are only "technically attached" to a hotel, but not physically, will see it on the list below, if it's not physically possible to put a casino inside or right next to the casino, at least, that's the official explanation...). The main pieces of gambling legislation relevant to casinos, land-based gambling establishments are the GCB-Guideline Responsible Gaming 2012**, the GCB-license regulation on Sports Betting 2013***, the Regulations for Live Bingo Operations 2016****, and the Regulations for Card Games 2016***** (as you can see, the tendency is for more and better regulation over the years, unlike in the other Caribbean licensing hubs, this is why I consider their gambling licenses to be best you can get in the Caribbean). Additionally, in accordance with the casino licence conditions, as declared by the Gaming Control Board, all land-based casinos must be attached to a hotel or hotel complex and be “focused on the international market for tourism”. ***** The capital of Curacao, Willemstad has the most gambling opportunities on the island (10 of the 15 gambling establishments are located there). The largest casino in Curacao is the Carnival Casino at Renaissance Resort. Carnival Casino has more than 300 gaming machines available, and offers several table games as well, such as poker, blackjack and roulette, details can be found below.

And even though Carnival Casino is not small, the others, on average, are on the smaller side, especially compared to US casinos (which are usually 3-4x as big). Sources, main pieces of brick & mortar, offline casino legislation: Can locals visit the casinos in Curacao? Although the casinos are mainly aimed at tourists, locals may also enter and play at casinos in Curacao. There are currently about a dozen casinos in operation on the island. This is considered by many to be an oversupply of casinos, and there are often casinos for sale in Curacao. Casino licensing and regulatory body of Curacao:

Whether, you want to establish a land-based gambling establishment or some kind of online betting, wagering platform, you need to contact the Curaçao Gaming Control Board. The details were already discussed above at the online casino segment, check that section above, the same applies to land-based casinos too. The following casinos were on the list previously, but are now closed, mostly due to the COVID-19 pandemic and resulting decrease in tourism, but some went bankrupt even earlier: Holiday Beach Resort and Casino Awasa Casino in Otrobanda Hotel Holiday Beach Resort and Casino Emerald Casino within the Curacao Marriott Beach Resort (no longer has a casino after the multi million $ renovations) Diamond Casino at Papagayo Beach Resort. which makes it de facto legal but not specifically regulated. Other forms of online gambling in Curacao. The legal status of various forms of online gambling in Curacao is practically the same as that of online casinos. This is due to the fact that there is no specific licence for the different forms of online gambling. All of these forms are covered by a single licensing system. Online gambling operators must apply for a licence from the Curaçao Gaming Control Board if they wish to receive a master licence. Master licences cover all forms of online gambling, including: online poker, online bingo and, of course, online casinos. Companies with a master gambling licence may also issue sublicences to other operators.
